DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election with traverse of Group I in Paper No. 9 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that there is no serious burden. This is not found persuasive because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given in Paper No. 8 and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification and/or have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Specification

2. The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

4. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Fujita et al (US 6,612,026).

Fujita discloses in Fig. 7 setting press-contact terminals (t) in terminal fitting groove portions (14) provided in a receiving jig (12); placing wires above the press-contact terminals and press-fitting the wire (Figs. 27(a)-27(c)).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fujita et al (US 6,612,026) in view of Tsuji et al (US 5,575,061).

Fujita discloses in Figs. 27(a)-27(c) terminals are placed in grooves and press-fitted by a press-contact head.

Fujita fails to disclose sequentially press-fitting.

Tsuji discloses sequentially press-fitting (col. 10, lines 29-31).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Fujita by sequentially press-fitting, as taught by Tsuji, for the purpose of allowing pressure terminals of differing size and specification are connected by pressure.
